*LIBERATION THEOLOGY
today in multi faith Hillingdon ?*

Liberation Theology is a 'bottom up' theology.....

an understanding of God and ourselves that is not dictated or directed by those in authority and power.

Formed and worked out by those on the ground ... often the poorest and most powerless of society.

Such a theological movement has had a marked impression
on many peoples' lives in Latin America, and from there it has also influenced many other parts of the world.

Following his experience of living in Brazil

and studying Liberation Theology at Roehampton, University of Surrey, Richard Bartlett asks.....

what Liberation Theology might have to say to us in Hillingdon today ?

Followed by Socialising & Light Refreshments
